

EMPATHETIC SERVICE SELLING

RECESSIONRESPONSE.COM

I have prepared a brief email template for you to use (you may also use it as an outline for calling them). I hope you find it to be candid, authentic and of service. Please feel free to use it in any way that serves you.

.....

I hope you are doing well. In the same breath, I want to acknowledge that I have no real understanding of how the pandemic may be affecting you. So, please accept my wishes for your health and the health of your loved ones.

As a customer of ours, I want you to know that we are ready to serve you, whenever you are ready. If you need us now, we are ready. If you need us in the future, we will be ready. And if you need us in an entirely new way, we will do everything we can to get ready.

Please tell me if there is a new or better way we can serve you.

And, please don't feel any obligation to respond. What matters most is that you simply know I am wishing you well.
